"Mr. Howes and his music committee liked it, but they said, 'Let's not publicize it. Play it cool. Don't mention it outside Cape May. Do it on Labor Day weekend, when there are plenty of people here anyhow. Let them discover it. Let the mayor and the local people come and see what it's like.'"

With a budget of $2,000, Mr. Albertson quietly put together a two-day program that included performers who are well known within folk music circles, but not far beyond: Dan Smith, Paul Cadwell, Bottle Hill, Sandy and Caroline Paton, Barbara Carnes and Joe Hickerson, among others.

On the festival's first night last year—it was a Friday—Mr. Albertson staged an introductory "sampling"

Passaic's Shoreline To Be Cleaned Up

Special to The New York Times

KEARNY—Project CUOP, an ecology-oriented organization composed of Kearny High School students, is sponsoring a clean-up of the Passaic River shores in Kearny on Sept. 29. The river is said to be one of the most-polluted streams in the country.

The clean-up volunteers are requested to meet at the Frank Vincent Marina on Passaic Avenue at 1:30 P.M. The project will begin at 2 P.M. and continue to 6 P.M.

Volunteers must wear their own work gloves and boots. Refreshments will be served during the clean-up. To register, volunteers should call Michael Camerman at (201) 991-4492.

Mosquitoes Target Of Drive in Bergen

Special to The New York Times

ENGLEWOOD—The Bergen County Mosquito Extermination Commission will clear streams in Englewood and Upper Saddle River in an effort to eliminate potential mosquito-breeding sites.

In Englewood, a tributary to Overpeck Creek will be cleared. In Upper Saddle River, a tributary of Pleasant Avenue Brooklyn will be cleared.
